

Erin Knight
Wedding Coordinator

It has taken many years for me to evolve into a wedding coordinator. I first started working in the wedding industry years ago in Houston as a florist assistant. Eventually I was designing floral arrangements for weddings on my own. Over the years I have assisted bridal couples in Texas, Arkansas, England, and now California. Every aspect, from guiding couples through their plans, to directing the rehearsal in the church, to the reception, to the final send-off of the couple, are all wonderful parts of the job I enjoy.

I joined LAUMC in 2009 with my husband and our two children. In my free time I enjoy being active in modern dance, spending time with my family, and enjoying the wonderful outdoors of California.

Congratulations, and I look forward to talking with you about your upcoming wedding.
