

Bryn Stuebner
Family Resource Center Director, Children's Center Preschool

I joined the LAUMC family as an employee after years of being a church member and volunteer. Responsibilities that I tackle include planning and organizing educational parenting speakers, maintaining a parent resource library, and organizing family fun entertainment activities for the church and Children's Center families. I received my undergraduate degree in American studies and a master's degree in sociology, both from Stanford University. I worked at Hewlett-Packard for 10 years, holding various human resources positions. After my second baby was born, I established my own HR consulting practice, which allowed me to work part-time on projects of interest.

On the family side, I am married to Jim Stuebner, my Stanford sweetheart, and we live just down the road from the church in Los Altos. Jim and I have three children: Cailey, Jake, and Bridget (who keeps me on my toes and has the entire family wrapped around her little finger).

When not caring for the children or working, I keep busy volunteering and am active in the PTA for my children's schools and volunteering for each of my Stanford reunions. My hobbies include exercising, walking my puppy, being a Brownie leader, cheering on my kids' sports activities, reading, and watching movies.

I am thrilled to be a part-time employee at the church and appreciate the flexibility it affords to continue with my passions of volunteering and caring for my family. Please come and visit me in my office at the Children's Center – I welcome all to take advantage of the wonderful opportunities and resources available at the LAUMC Family Resource Center!
